IB report

Merry Christmas and a happy New Year People!!!

Here we are, the first hard months of the semester are gone and we can have a bit of relax during the Christmas holydays.

Now a new year is beginning. We don't know what it will bring, but we of course hope for the best. And fortunately we don't only hope, but we are constantly acting for it to happen. Even during vacations (which for many are also unfortunately exam preparation period) the IB and many of you fellow members are working in order to make our association bigger, our bonds stronger, and our future brighter.

What EUROAVIA has reached till now is only thanks to the commitment and passion of its members, and those are the things that can allow ourselves to smile watching at the future.

So, thank you in advance for the path we're going to do together in this brand new 2011 :)

We have a lot of things planned for the next months: We will start publishing a new magazine at our university, update the site, create an aeronautical library, organize a lot of things such as visits to aviation related companies, the second edition of a model aircraft show, biweekly lectures, partys and dinners. Every year we organize an airshow (Jornadas Aeronáuticas da Covilhã) wich includes conferences. It is planned for the second week of May of 2011. This is where we will spend more time, work and money. So far we have organized (with great success) a Christmas dinner and party for all aeronautical students. With no other subject, EUROAVIA Covilhã wishes everyone Merry Christmas and a happy New Year!

Dresden

After listening to a great presentation by Mr. Näther (CEO) about the Leipzig/Halle airport (LEJ) in their conference room, we had a very neat tour across the airfield. The tour guide was entertaining us a really good! During the tour we stopped in front of a Boeing 777F of Aerologic. This very young airplane is huge and has very large engines. We were able to get off the bus and had a walk around the airplane. Also we went inside the aircraft's cargo deck and into the cockpit. Continuing the tour, the guide asked the tower to get permission to drive along the runway. We got the permission and the bus driver floored the gas pedal. Next stop was the Antonov AN-124. A huge russian cargo aircraft. We also got off the bus there and took some pictures which made the tour unforgettable for all of us. This is a great opportunity to bring the university theories to live. All the participants were very pleased with this tour and we also gained a few new members. On the train ride back to Dresden everybody was talking about the impressions of the day - it was a very successful day for EUROAVIA!

Thanks for publishing!!
Greetings,

Sevilla
Dear EUROAVIANS,

As the end of the year approaches, all the members of EUROAVIA Sevilla would like to extend their season's greetings to the rest of the EUROAVIANS. We wish you all the best for the forthcoming year, which we sincerely hope is one of great succes for all the events and plans laid out by our Association. As far as we go, we are going to do everything we can to help in this way.

Which leads us to a big scoop! EUROAVIA Sevilla is organizing a Symposium which will take place between the 28th of February and the 5th of March! The aerospace industry and manufacturers unrelenting passion to enhance the performance of commercial and military aircraft is constantly driving the development of improved high performance structural materials. Thus we have decide to choose composite materials as the topic of the Symposium, as they are one such class of materials that play a significant role in current and future aerospace components.

We have formed a group of 16 EUROAVIANS who are relentlessly working on the organization of this event. We would like to remind you that this is only our second international event after the Fly-In that took place in 2009, but our ambition is high, and after the success of that Fly-In, we are putting on a big effort to make sure we exceed ourselves. So far it's been tough, especially to find financial support, but we are overcoming all the problems we stumble upon, and with hard work the event is taking shape, and a very good one, to be honest!

By the time this newsletter is out, the announcement for the symposium will have probably taken place, and you will have a better idea of the many activities and lectures planned. And apart from that, we want to encourage you to come to Sevilla and enjoy our great city, atmosphere and, why not say it, weather!

We really strive to make this one of the biggest events of the EUROAVIA calendar for 2011, so don't hesitate! Sign up!

Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays!
